galore.

Our supercharged knack for extraordinary youth research through our KidzEyes® and TeensEyes® divisions has helped us create a unique type of online community—ParentSpeak! By cultivating our youth and parent relationships for years, we're now able to take our family-based research into overdrive by creating the next generation in family research.

Through ParentSpeak, we interact and engage with our parents in unprecedented ways exploring new and traditional methodologies to ensure a much more holistic perspective of family dynamics.
